The annual publication of the Student Handbook is intended to be an acquaintance mechanism, a guide, a fact-finder, and a lawgiver. It can help you to appreciate and understand your college home more fully.

Every individual must experience life for himself, but life must be channeled through laws, traditions, and customs. Every group has its own traditions, and Wake Forest is no exception.

Throughout this book are many of the facts you will need to know in order to make yourself a more integral part of the Wake Forest College family. By your own work and cooperation Wake Forest will become a better school and you a better individual.—The Editor.

College Life, Traditions

Traditions—the intangibles of college life—contribute a major portion of what students, faculty and alumni call the Spirit of Wake Forest. That spirit cannot be clearly defined; it cannot be put down in black and white. But it is as real as the College itself.

Wait Chapel's towering spire dominates the campus from the head of the plaza.

There is no one principal custom, no central theme. But Wake Forest traditions are all deep rooted and cherished aspects of life at a school with a distinct personality. These can, however, be described to some extent. . . .

It is fall, and new students go through an orientation program to introduce them to the College. Identification badges are issued, and one knows the name and hometown of a new student on sight.

Soon the long lines of registration begin to form. And after two days of headaches a convocation is held in the chapel and the Fall term is under way.

Always, from the first day of school to the last, an atmosphere of friendliness prevails on the campus. Everyone speaks to those they meet, whether they know each other or not. The custom of speaking, not found at many colleges, strengthens the Wake Forest community.

College life soon begins its whirlwind pace. Activities start immediately, some even before school begins, and the endless grind of lectures, reports, quizzes and term papers is underway.

Football games take over the sports picture in the fall. Pep rallies draw throngs of students, and spirits are high on nights before home games. Students will cross town to Bowman Gray Stadium, and long, stirring chants of "Go, Wake Forest," "Fight Deacons" or perhaps "Poor Carolina" may fill the arena.

Then there's Homecoming. Fraternities put up decorations outside the dorms, and the work is done during the night so that no group sees another's theme until the big day. The campus is filled with old grads, sponsors are introduced at halftime at the game, parties and the annual Homecoming dance are held.

Almost every Tuesday during the school year the campus resembles a military post as ROTC students don Army uniforms for drill day. Accompanied by the ROTC band, the cadet corps marches to the athletic field for two hours of military cavorting.

The lounge and soda shop in Reynolda Hall and recreation facilities in W. N. Reynolds Gymnasium will provide relaxation for weary students.

Winter comes, with the cold and ice and the bare tree limbs. But college life goes on. Basketball will take over and Winston-Salem's Memorial Coliseum will roar with thousands of voices cheering the Deacons on to victory and a possible championship.

Christmas approaches and students get a bit restless as holidays grow near. Parties and dances are held, complete with the seasonal decorations and evergreens. The Glee Club presents the "Messiah," special programs and services are held, and fraternities and other groups sponsor Christmas parties for orphans and underprivileged persons.

By this time a few issues of The Student, monthly campus magazine, have been published, and Radio Station WFDD is playing "White Christmas" and the latest popular recordings.

Students come back to school after enjoying the holidays with their families, and the windows of every building are lighted as study begins for first-semester exams. Registration comes again, but this time pre-registration has cut down the long lines, and schedule conflicts have been reduced. And suddenly it is spring at Wake Forest.

Campus politics reign supreme in the spring as political parties make promises, give receptions, hold rallies, and distribute handbills and posters reading: Vote for this party and that candidate. Baseball games will draw crowds to Ernie Shore Field to cheer for the Deacons on the diamond.

Among Wake Forest's oldest and most cherished traditions are the magnolias. The trees' beautiful white blossoms have for many become almost synonymous with the name Wake Forest. The former campus in the village of Wake Forest was covered with magnolias, and that tradition has been transplanted here with all the others.

As the warm spring days roll on, students flock to the out-of-doors. Picnics and swimming parties are held, and intramural and intercollegiate sports reach their peak. Students move chairs outside the dorms to read and study. By night small groups gather on the campus to talk softly in the glow of the moon and campus lights.

Old Gold and Black is published for the last time and, as usual, distributed to the students on Monday. Many realize that they have taken the newspaper almost for granted and that the lights that burned far into the night on "Pub Row" were enabling them to have a better knowledge of college activities. The annual question, "When is the Howler coming out?" is heard, but if everything has happened according to schedule, students have their copies and are reviewing the year before it is over.

Graduation approaches and, for the first time, students who will be back realize that many of their friends will be leaving. They realize that it is, after all, the students who make Wake Forest, and that these people—with their good points and faults—are actually the strength of the College. Wake Forest can be no better than the sum total of her students.

With this in mind, students and professors alike look forward to next year's freshmen while bidding farewell to the graduates.

A Bit of History

Wake Forest began its 123-year-old history on February 3, 1834, as Wake Forest Institute with Dr. Samuel Wait as principal. Its purpose was two-fold—to give collegiate instruction in the arts and sciences, and to give training under Christian influences and provide educated ministers. The institute was founded, and despite many transitions the College today remains an agency of the Baptist State Convention.

For five years Wake Forest was a manual labor school, training students in agriculture along with liberal arts instruction. But in December, 1838, it was re-chartered as Wake Forest College. Four men received the Bachelor of Arts degree as the first class graduated in June, 1839.

Wake Forest was exclusively a college of liberal arts until June, 1894, when the Law School was established. The School of Medicine was formed in May, 1902, was moved to Winston-Salem in 1941, and is now known as Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College.

As a student of the College it is only natural that you should ask why the College was moved to Winston-Salem from the town of Wake Forest. There are several reasons.

In 1946, the Trustees of the College and the Baptist State Convention accepted an offer made by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem to give the College $350,000 annually in perpetuity on condition that it move to Winston-Salem.

The Charles H. Babcock family donated a part of the beautiful Reynolda estate outside Winston-Salem for the new campus, and groundbreaking ceremonies were held October 15, 1951, with the President of the United States delivering the principal address.

In 1955 the Reynolds Foundation increased its annual payments to the College to $500,000. The actual move to the new campus was completed in June, 1956, and Summer School classes began at that time.

The old campus and buildings at Wake Forest have been sold to the Southern Baptist Convention for the use of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Throughout the years thousands of students have received instruction at Wake Forest and have entered various occupations and professions. Among them have been large numbers of ministers, missionaries, physicians, lawyers, educators, writers, businessmen and farmers.

The principles of Christianity and the purposes of Wake Forest have remained inseparable. Wake Forest graduates have contributed to Christian culture and to its development in North Carolina, the South and the nation.

Perhaps the greatest single factor in the College's development has been the consistently high quality of its faculty and administration. Wake Forest has been able to attract men who have been willing to dedicate a major portion of their lives to the service of the College.

The Campus

The physical equipment of the College's campus in the Reynolda section of Winston-Salem includes some 320 acres of land and 14 buildings. In addition there are a president's home, 10 faculty apartment buildings housing 72 families, and 56 apartments for married students.

Architect for the campus was Jens F. Larson, and construction was begun in 1951. The buildings are of modified Georgian architecture, constructed of Old Virginia brick and trimmed in granite and limestone.

Wait Chapel, located at the head of the campus plaza, is named in honor of the first president of Wake Forest, Dr. Samuel Wait. Its spire towers 230 feet into the air, and its auditorium has a seating capacity of 2500. A four-manual pipe organ and space for more than 80 choir members are included in the building.

Wingate Hall, attached to Wait Chapel on the northern end, is a four-story building for the Departments of Religion, Psychology-Philosophy, and Sociology in addition to providing for the educational purposes of a campus church. Also located in the building are the Paul Price Davis Meditation Chapel and an assembly room accommodating some 300 people.

Reynolda Hall, at the southern end of the plaza facing Wait Chapel, is the administrative and student activities center. The wing on the west end of the building accommodates all administrative offices of the College and the wing on the east end provides for student organizations and activities. Also in the building are the cafeteria, a soda shop, lounges, conference rooms, banquet rooms and classrooms, and the Magnolia Room.

The Z. Smith Reynolds Library contains space for eight tiers of book stacks, with a capacity of about one million volumes. Four floors of rooms for reading, reference and other uses are available. Portions of the Library are being used temporarily for classrooms and offices.

The W. N. Reynolds Gymnasium, one of the finest buildings of its type in the nation, provides basketball courts, a swimming pool, game and recreation facilities, classrooms and offices for the Physical Education and Athletic Departments, along with courts for other indoor sports. The ROTC Department is also housed here.

The Science Building accommodates the basic sciences, chemistry, biology and physics. This building contains many laboratories, classrooms, offices, a large lecture room, and storage space.

The Law Building is a four-story structure with classrooms, a moot court and assembly room, the law library, a seminar room, a law review room and a student lounge.

Four quadrangles of men's dormitories border the plaza on the east and west with accommodations for 1500 students. Northeast of the plaza is Poteat Dorm, Taylor Dorm is on the Northwest, Kitchin Dorm is Southeast, and Davis Dorm is Southwest. Connecting Taylor and Poteat Dormitories with the Chapel are two wings, Efrd and Huffman Halls.

Bostwick and Johnson Dormitories, with space for 400 women, are located at the south end of the campus.

Facing the plaza are a post office, a bank, a book store, men's and women's clothing stores, a barber shop and a photography studio—all housed in the men's dorms.

The Maintenance Building is set up to repair and construct numerous items essential to the operation of the College.

In various libraries the College possesses a total of 146,000 volumes, not including several thousand United States Government publications. These volumes are distributed as follows: the general library, 106,000; the Library of the School of Law, 24,000; and the Library of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, 17,000.

The Administration

Wake Forest has over 100 professors who teach in the 25 departments of the College. The administrative duties of the College are carried on by 30 persons and their staffs. Wake Forest College is controlled by a board of trustees appointed by the Baptist State Convention.

Harold W. Tribble is president of the College. Robert G. Deyton is vice-president and controller, C. S. Green is vice-president in charge of public relations, William C. Archie is dean, Worth H. Copeland is bursar, Grady S. Patterson is registrar, Edwin Wilson and John W. Nowell are assistant deans, A. L. Aycock is director of admissions, and Miss Lois Johnson is dean of women. Gaines M. Rogers is dean of the School of Business Administration, Carroll W. Weathers is dean of the School of Law, C. C. Carpenter is dean of the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, and J. Allen Easley is acting dean of the School of Religion.

J. Glenn Blackburn is the chaplain of the College, as well as the pastor of the Wake Forest Baptist Church. Russell H. Brantley is director of the News Bureau and Marvin Francis is athletic publicity director. Dr. Ozmer Henry is college physician, Carlton P. West is librarian, Jasper L. Memory is director of the Placement Bureau, and E. C. Snyder is manager of the College Book Store.

William H. Gibson is director of athletics, Paul J. Amen is head football coach, Horace "Bones" McKinney is head basketball coach, and Eugene Hooks is head baseball coach.

Eugene Olive is director of alumni activities, Mark H. Reece is assistant director of alumni activities, Edgar D. Christman is secretary of the Baptist Student Union, and James B. Cook, Jr., is assistant bursar. Harold S. Moore is superintendent of buildings and grounds and Royce R. Weatherly is assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds.

These people and their staffs attend to practically all administrative matters essential to the operation of the College. Most administrative offices are located in Reynolda Hall's west wing.

Student Government

Wake Forest students enjoy a high degree of independence in regulating their own behavior and activities. The Student Government is organized under the Constitution of the Student Body, which is recognized by the College as the official statement of that government's authority.

Student committees are set up by the Legislature to work parallel with those faculty committees which deal with matters concerning students.

The Student Legislature has full responsibility for making all laws relative to student body activities. Its members represent the four undergraduate classes. The speaker of the Legislature for this year is George Braswell, student body vice-president.

The Honor Council, composed of the Women's and Men's Conduct Councils, tries violators of the Honor Code. If a person is charged with a violation of the Code, he is brought before the Council, which, sitting as a court, will decide his innocence or guilt. The accused is permitted to have his own counsel and may sit in on the entire proceedings if he chooses. He may request his trial to be open to the public; otherwise it will be closed. Violators of the Conduct Code are tried by either the Men's or Women's Conduct Council and under the same conditions. Harvey Durham is chairman of the Honor Council and the Men's Conduct Council, and Reta Peoples is chairman of the Women's Conduct Council.

A great deal of responsibility lies in the various phases of student government, and cooperation is needed from each student to make the program effective.

The Honor Code

The honor system has been observed and cherished by Wake Forest students for many years. It has become an integral part of the College itself, and students consider it a binding oath.

The honor system works very simply and effectively. At the end of all written work the student signs a pledge which reads: "I have neither given nor received aid on this work, nor have I knowledge of anyone doing so." Thus, the pledge has a three-fold obligation. First, the student must give absolutely no aid to anyone on written work. Second, he must ask no one for aid. Third, he must report to the Honor Council any violation of the honor system.

Men and women reported for violating the honor system are tried by the Honor Council. When a student sees a person cheating on an examination, he should indicate the fact to another person in the class if possible, so that two persons may witness it. Then the case should be reported to an Honor Council member. The Honor Council has full authority over such cases. A student may, however, appeal his case to the Executive Committee of the faculty after a trial by the Council.

The honor system can be only as strong as the students of the College make it; therefore, it is the duty of each individual to fulfill his obligations to the system with the utmost diligence.

Campus Activities

Wake Forest College's primary purpose is to educate the mind in the field of liberal arts and sciences, and people who attend the College are expected to put forth maximum effort in increasing their intellect. However, you will find sufficient time to take part in some of the many and varied activities found on the campus. Organizations are plentiful, and there are many which will directly benefit you in your future career.

In these extracurricular activities, described in the next few pages, you will profit by working with friends who share your interests, and you can gain a better understanding of the people and spirit that are Wake Forest.

Student Publications

Publications at Wake Forest include a newspaper, a magazine, an annual and a radio station. Through these mediums students keep informed of campus happenings, learn what other students are thinking and are supplied with a record of a year's activities at the College. Long hours of work go into the production of the four organs of student expression, but the satisfaction of a job well done is a rich reward. Writing, speaking or business experience is a step toward a job in one of these fields after graduation.

The publications are governed by a Faculty Publications Board composed of faculty advisers and a Student Publications Board composed of the editors and business managers from each staff. The four offices are located on "Pub Row" in the east wing of Reynolda Hall's second floor. Participation is open to all students.

OLD GOLD AND BLACK

Old Gold and Black, student newspaper, is distributed each Monday 29 times a year. It is the principal means of student communication, and its pages are filled with general and sports news, feature articles, editorials, pictures and advertising. It is a week-by-week story of Wake Forest—what happened and what will happen, with interpretation of the news. For the past five years the paper has received All-American ratings from the Associated Collegiate Press, ranking it among the top college publications in the nation. Bill Connelly is the editor and Rowland Thomas is business manager.

THE STUDENT

The College magazine is The Student, an outlet for the creative writing abilities of students. Short stories, feature articles, poems and cartoons are among the material included in the magazine. It is published monthly during the school year and is the oldest college publication, founded in 1882. Anyone may submit copy for publication even if he is not on the regular staff. Bert Walton is the editor and Mike Price is business manager.

THE HOWLER

The Howler, College yearbook, is a word-and-picture story of the year's activities and a valuable record for future reference. Individual, group and action pictures are included to record the complete story of college life. The Howler has appeared each year since 1903. Jane Lewis and Bob Williams are the co-editors and Ed Blackburn is business manager.

WFDD

WFDD is the "voice of Wake Forest College," bringing campus and national news to students along with sports programs and music to suit any mood. Affiliated with the National Association of Collegiate Broadcasters, the station operates during the afternoons and nights. Main feature of the station is its Deaconlight Serenade, which is also broadcast over WSJS, Winston-Salem radio station. Bill Smith is the station manager and Tommy Bunn is the business manager.

Religious Activities

The Baptist Student Union directs student religious activities on the campus. The purpose of the program is to afford every member of the student body an opportunity to come to an understanding and acceptance of a faith in God through Jesus Christ, to develop that faith in service, to discover its relevancy to all areas of life and to participate actively in the program of a local church.

All students may participate in BSU activities. Membership is based upon the student's voluntary choice and/or membership in a local Baptist church. Students of other denominations who take part in such groups as Westminster Fellowship (for Presbyterians), Wesley Foundation (for Methodists), and Canterbury Club (for Episcopalians) are given representation on the BSU Executive Council.

Several unit organizations are sponsored by the BSU. The Cullom Ministerial Conference attempts to give practical instruction in helping prospective ministers become more effective preachers and pastors.

The Christian Education and Service Club provides an opportunity for students to study phases and problems of religious education as well as to apply what is learned in service. Any student can find in the program practical demonstrations of methods and procedures.

The College Young Women's Auxiliary promotes the study of missions through "taps" programs in the girls' dorms and general monthly meetings.

BSU Sunday activities include Sunday School, Training Union and fellowship after Sunday evening services. Daily vespers are held in Davis Chapel providing an opportunity for meditation.

Also, the BSU sponsors a number of social events and parties, sends teams to nearby churches for week-end youth programs, and assists in the Freshman Orientation program.

The BSU holds an annual pre-school retreat for all students immediately before the orientation program. This retreat is an orientation to the religious life on campus and seeks to enrich the spiritual life of all who attend. It will be held at Camp Hanes, Winston-Salem YMCA Camp, a few miles from the campus.

George Braswell is this year's president of the BSU. Ed Christman is the Director of the Baptist Student Union and advises the BSU as it seeks to serve as the sum-total of student religious activities on campus.

College Debating

Wake Forest debaters, traditionally successful in collegiate debate circles, have won national recognition for the College. The teams usually attend intercollegiate forensic tournaments at such places as New York, N. Y., Miami, Fla., Washington, D. C., West Point, N. Y., and Notre Dame.

Wake Forest annually is among the top teams in the nation, taking both team and individual honors at various tournaments each year. Oratory, extemporaneous, impromptu and after-dinner speaking are also stressed. Franklin R. Shirley is director of the debate squad.

The College sponsors the Dixie Classics Debate Tournament each December, bringing outstanding national teams to the campus. Novice debate teams are also organized and a novice tournament is held annually in the fall. Although only a limited number of students can compete on the varsity team, there is ample opportunity for participation in the program.

The College Theater

Aspiring thespians find opportunities in the College Theater to display their talent for acting, lighting, staging, and make-up.

In addition to learning the essentials of the theater, students are awarded points which may entitle them to membership in Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity.

The Theater presents four major productions a year, two each semester. One of the productions is a musical comedy. In addition to these, the coming season will include the production of a new play, a play for children, a religious play, and two or three series of one-act plays presented by the Laboratory Theater.

Plays are now presented in an arena theater which is located on the fourth floor of the Library. In the future the College plans to construct a Fine Arts Building, and such a building will meet all the needs of a college theater group.

The Theater has as its main objective the presentation of plays which are not only of entertainment value but are of artistic worth as well.

James H. Walton is director of the Theater, which was begun in 1943. Participation is open to all interested students.

Literary Societies

The Euzelian and Philomathesian Literary Societies, whose purpose is the intellectual improvement of their members, are the oldest and among the more distinguished student organizations on the campus.

Organized when the College was founded in 1834, the societies have had as members men and women who later became governors, attorneys, physicians, ministers and teachers.

At first membership was compulsory, for the societies were an integral part of college life. But since the establishment of numerous administrative departments and social and professional fraternities, the literary societies have been reduced in number to a select group of students interested in training themselves in public speaking, parliamentary procedure and literary appreciation.

Both societies occupy meeting halls on the second floor of Reynolda Hall's east wing.

The societies meet at least once a week and conduct a program, literary in nature, usually consisting of speeches of various types by members. To climax activities at the end of each semester, Founder's Day contests are held in the fall and Society Day contests in the spring. Competition consists of orations, debates for men and women, declamations, poetry readings, impromptu and extemporaneous speeches, after-dinner speeches and dramatic readings. Contestants are chosen by the individual societies through elimination contests.

This year, John Earle will serve as president of the Philomathesian Society and Sam Harvey will preside over the Euzelians. Membership is open to all.

Musical Activities

Musical organizations on the campus include the Glee Club, Male Octet, College Choir, Opera Workshop, Symphony Orchestra and College Band. These organizations seek to exercise and develop musical talents of students and offer opportunities for association with students who have common interests in this field.

The Glee Club, largest of these groups, presents regular programs, including the "Messiah" each Christmas. Thane McDonald, head of the Music Department, is director of the Glee Club.

The Male Octet participates in many programs including chapel, civic club and church programs.

The College Choir, also directed by Mr. McDonald, stages an annual tour presenting programs for schools, civic groups and churches in various cities.

The Band, directed by Angelo Capparella, produces halftime performances at football games and presents annual concerts.

The Symphony Orchestra, also guided by Mr. Capparella, appears on several programs during the year.

The Opera Workshop, a ten-year-old organization under the direction of Clifford Bair, presents an annual production each spring.

All musical organizations are located in W. N. Reynolds Gymnasium. A new Fine Arts Building will be constructed within the next few years, which will provide first-rate facilities for musical activities.

Intercollegiate Sports

In intercollegiate sports the College is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference, one of the finest athletic circuits in the nation. The Demon Deacons, as the teams are popularly called, rank high in competition even among larger schools.

The year-round varsity sports schedule includes football, basketball, baseball, track, wrestling, cross country, golf, tennis, and swimming. Freshman teams have full schedules in all intercollegiate sports.

Other schools in the ACC are Duke University, the University of North Carolina, N. C. State College, the University of South Carolina, the University of Maryland, the University of Virginia and Clemson College.

Deacon athletic teams have brought much national recognition to Wake Forest. The 1955 baseball squad captured the "World Series" of college baseball at Omaha, Neb., to become NCAA Champions and the first North Carolina team ever to win a national championship in a major sport.

Last year's basketball squad was undefeated in non-conference play, and at the end of the season the Deacons were ranked among the nation's top 20 teams by the Associated Press.

Excitement runs high when the Deacons take the floor at the Memorial Coliseum.

The Wake footballers this year will play home games at Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem, but plans call for a new stadium near the campus to be constructed in a few years. Home basketball games are played in spacious Memorial Coliseum near the campus, and the teams practice in W. N. Reynolds Gymnasium.

Ernie Shore Field, located near the Coliseum, is the scene of home baseball games. It is considered one of the finest baseball parks in the state.

The Deacon thinclads will be running for the first time this year on a cinder track of their own. The new track is located behind the gymnasium.

Intramural Sports

The Department of Physical Education provides a varied intramural sports program that appeals to the interests of several hundred Wake Forest students every year.

Intramural sports include touch football, golf and tennis (both fall and spring), volleyball, handball, table tennis, badminton, horseshoes and softball.

Co-recreational events such as fencing, square dancing and roller skating are held occasionally during the year.

Competition in team sports is on the basis of fraternity and non-fraternity, or independent teams. Any individual or group of individuals may organize teams and enter competition in any sport. Individual sports are run on a single-elimination basis, and anyone is eligible to enter. Trophies are awarded to individual and team winners in every sport.

The intramural program is under the direction of Harold M. Barrow, chairman of the department of physical education. In 1948 the intramural student manager system was inaugurated to assist the Physical Education Department in the intramural program. The intramural manager and assistant managers are appointed by the physical education staff and handle the details necessary for operation of the program.

Facilities for handball, volleyball and numerous other sport and recreational activities are available at W. N. Reynolds Gymnasium, one of the most modern, fully equipped athletic plants in the nation.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

The women's division of the Department of Physical Education offers each woman an opportunity through participation in team and individual sports, rhythms, aquatics, and tumbling to acquire skill and knowledge in all phases of physical activities.

Two semesters of physical education are required of all freshman women, who must have two regulation uniforms, gymnasium shoes and socks. Grades are based primarily on achievement in the activity, as determined by daily performance, skill, and knowledge test of each activity.

Women's athletics and recreation are sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association. Intramural activities are encouraged through this program, which provides an opportunity for wholesome recreational activities for the coed's participation. Individual awards and trophies are based on points which students may accumulate by participating in various activities and winning tournaments.

The Physical Education Majors' Club is composed of all women who are majoring in physical education and those interested in it as a profession.

Social Fraternities

One of the first questions facing a male student who enrolls at Wake Forest is whether or not he will join one of the ten Greek-letter social fraternities on campus. Each of these organizations starts the school year with a "rushing" program designed to interest new students in joining its ranks.

During the year fraternities have numerous dances and informal parties and are active in such phases of college life as intramural athletics and campus politics. Furthermore, fraternities urge their members to participate in extracurricular activities and excel in scholastic work.

If the new student decides to pledge a social fraternity, he must then choose which one, provided that he receives an invitation from more than one group. When a person joins a fraternity, he is selecting an organization and a group of men with whom he wishes to be affiliated during his entire college career. It is a decision that should not be made hastily or without serious consideration.

The Interfraternity Council is the central governing body for all fraternities on the campus. Its main purpose, in addition to regulating rushing, pledging and initiation of students, is to sponsor social functions for the fraternity men and their guests. The annual IFC dances, usually featuring a big-name band, are the highlights of fraternity social life. The Faculty Committee on Fraternities works in conjunction with the IFC to maintain high standards of conduct and scholarship among fraternity men. Oscar Kafer is president of the IFC.

The fraternities and their presidents for 1957-58 are:

Alpha Sigma Phi	Bill Arrowood
Delta Sigma Phi	Ralph James
Kappa Alpha	Robert Hedrick
Kappa Sigma	David Hughes
Lambda Chi Alpha	Fred Turnage
Pi Kappa Alpha	Oscar Kafer
Sigma Chi	Dickie Newsome
Sigma Phi Epsilon	Robert Williams
Sigma Pi	George Mewborn
Theta Chi	Harvey Squires

FRATERNITY RUSHING RULES

1. These rushing regulations, applying to rushing of all students except as specifically stated otherwise, shall take effect on the first day of fall registration and continue in effect until October 15, 1957. (For purposes of these regulations a fraternity man is an active member, an alumnus, a pledge or anyone authorized as an agent of the fraternity.)

2. No freshman may be in any fraternity section after 7:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday night. The sole exception to this rule is the evening smoker, held between 8 and 11 p. m. This smoker shall be considered as formal. Attendance will be limited to men, although wives of students and of faculty members and house mothers may serve refreshments. The afternoon smoker shall not end any later than 6 p. m.

B. Violations of B or C, if reported to the Social Committee and verified by it, shall result in the denial of house and group social privileges for a period of time to be fixed by the Social Committee, but not to extend beyond the start of the next succeeding academic year; further, such violation even though disciplined by the Social Committee may still be subject to such actions as are provided in the Constitution of the Student Government Council, or as may be determined by the Executive and/or the Constitution of the Interfraternity Committee of the Faculty.

Campus Politics

During the last seven years politics at Wake Forest have been controlled by two political parties, the Campus Party and the Student Party. Until the spring of 1951, the Progressive Fraternity Party, composed of all campus social fraternities and some coeds and independents, had been the dominant factor in annual spring elections.

But in that year four fraterniites—Kappa Alpha,

Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon—withdrew to form the Campus Party, leaving Alpha Sigma Phi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Sigma Pi and Theta Chi, who formed the Student Party. Independent men and coeds are affiliated with each group.

Last year Delta Sigma Phi fraternity joined the Campus Party, giving both parties five social fraternities each.

Every spring the two parties conduct active campaigns, hold caucuses and nominating conventions, and put forth every effort to capture as many as possible of 38 student government offices.

For months before election day political talk fills the air; and as the big day approaches, huge rallies, complete with bands and torches, are staged on the campus. Elections are usually quite close and the voting turnout is generally good. Last year around 77 per cent of the student body voted.

Freshman elections will be held early in October and you will have an opportunity to participate in politics at Wake Forest. Frosh elections are an excellent opportunity for new students to become acquainted with their classmates. And all you need to run, and perhaps win, are a few signatures on your nomination petition and plenty of the spirit that makes campus politics exciting.

There's plenty of handshaking and passing out of handbills on the campus when election day comes around.

The College Songs

School spirit soars when students hear the first strains of "Dear Old Wake Forest," whether it be at football and basketball games, pep rallies or in chapel. In one spontaneous movement everyone stands to add his bit of enthusiasm to the singing. The fight song, "Oh, Here's To Wake Forest," usually follows the Alma Mater without a pause.

DEAR OLD WAKE FOREST

(The Alma Mater)

Dear old Wake Forest!
Thine is a noble name;
Thine is a glorious fame,
Constant and true.
We give thee of our praise,
Adore thine ancient days,
Sing thee our humble lays,
Mother, so dear.

Dear old Wake Forest!
Mystic thy name to cheer;
Be thou our guardian near,
Fore'er and aye.
We bow before thy shrine,
Thy brow that lays entwine,
All honor now be thine,
Mother, today.

OH, HERE'S TO WAKE FOREST

(The Fight Song)

Oh, here's to Wake Forest, a glass of the finest
Red, ruddy Rhenish filled up to the brim!
Her sons they are many, unrivaled by any;
With hearts o'erflowing we will sing her hymn.

(Chorus)

Rah, Rah, Wake Forest, Rah!
Old Alma Mater's sons we are;
We'll herald her story and die for her glory,
Old Gold and Black is ever waving high.

As frosh we adore her; as sophs we explore her,
And carve our names upon her ancient walls;
As juniors patrol her; as seniors extol her,
And weep to leave fore'er her sacred halls.

Though fortune forsake us and fate o'ertake us,
We'll ne'er forget our dear old college days,
And o'er memory's treasure we'll drink without measure,
And sing fore'er our Alma Mater's praise.

(The following song was written by Dr. Hubert McNeill Poteat, who in June, 1956, retired after 48 years as professor of Latin at Wake Forest. Dr. Poteat is a renowned musician as well as a classics scholar.)

ANOTHER FIGHT SONG

Well, what do you think we're doing here today?
Why, we're out to see the Demon Deacons play,
And when the day is done,
And the victory is won,
If you listen you will hear the people say . . .

(Chorus)

Wake Forest, Wake Forest,
'Tis the grand old college we adore.
And with pride we'll tell the story
Of our Alma Mater's glory.
May she live, live, live forevermore.

Well, who do you think is on the other side?
It's the Tar Heels (Wolfpack, Devils, etc.),
And they'll treat the foe so tough,
The Deacs will get so rough,
And they'll treat the foe so tough,
That they'll think they've been boiled, baked, and fried.

You're in the Army

Many incoming male freshmen will take courses in the Department of Military Science and Tactics, referred to as ROTC (Reserve Officers Training Corps). The Wake Forest ROTC unit is a Senior Division General Military Science unit and was established in 1951.

The four-year ROTC program is considered to possess many benefits for the college student. Students who successfully complete the Army ROTC program may be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Army Reserve. If selected as a distinguished military student, a student may apply for an appointment as second lieutenant in the Regular Army.

Every Tuesday brings ROTC students and the Color Guard to the practice field.

The Winston Area

The Winston-Salem area abounds with recreational and cultural opportunities for the student. In addition to a concert-lecture series sponsored by the College, students may attend programs of such local groups as the Civic Music Association, the Little Theater, the Winston-Salem Symphony and the Winston-Salem Operetta Association.

For relaxation and light entertainment the city has several motion picture theaters which show the latest movies. Many fine restaurants to suit all students' tastes are located in and around the Winston-Salem area.

In addition to the College's first-rate athletic and recreational programs, students may enjoy many local attractions. The City Recreation Department operates 25 recreation centers and four parks, with facilities for all types of indoor and outdoor activities.

Student golfers may play at two public courses, Hillcrest Golf Club and Reynolds Park, and at the Old Town club. In baseball, the Winston-Salem Red Birds is the local farm team of the St. Louis Cardinals in the Class B Carolina League.

Other opportunities for recreation may be found in the area surrounding the city. "Tanglewood," the William and Kate B. Reynolds Memorial Park, offers swimming, horseback riding, fishing, games, miniature golf and picnicking.

Hanging Rock State Park, located 30 miles north of Winston, and Pilot Mountain Park, 25 miles northwest of the city, attract many students during the fall and spring months. The scenic Blue Ridge Parkway is only 47 miles from the campus.

Of special interest is Old Salem, which is being restored as one of the finest examples of colonial life in the United States. Salem Academy, founded in 1772, is the oldest preparatory school for girls in the South. Salem College is a distinguished four-year college for women. Traditional services of the Moravian Church at Easter and at Christmas are attended by people from all over the nation.

Graduate Students

When you arrive at Wake Forest and throughout the school year, you will find many students who are connected with the College but are not regular members of the undergraduate student body. These people are students of the Law School or the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

The Wake Forest Law School, established in 1894, occupies a building on the south end of the campus. The program of the Law School is designed to afford training in the field of legal education, equipping students to practice wherever the Anglo-American law system prevails. The school is approved by all national and state accrediting agencies and has a 24,000 volume library. Approximately 135 students are expected this year.

BOWMAN GRAY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

There also are students of the College who do not attend classes on the campus, but are located across town at Bowman Gray School of Medicine. The Medical School, moved to Winston-Salem in 1941, operates in connection with Baptist Hospital. The School has a library of some 17,000 volumes and is approved by all major accrediting agencies. Enrollment is approximately 208.

From the Alumni

“Thirteen thousand of us once sat where you sit. Now we are just about everywhere—businessmen, doctors, lawyers, teachers, ministers, missionaries, writers, farmers, manufacturers, husbands, wives, parents.

“Both you and we will always hold one thing in common—a growing appreciation of our college days and devotion to the high ideals that become part of us at Wake Forest.

“Looking over our shoulders, we hail you with affection and faith as our younger brothers and sisters in the fellowship of our alma mater’s growing family. We have preceded you a bit in time along the journey, but we shall be joined henceforth with you in meaningful companionship because of our common heritage.

The first graduating class on the Wake Forest campus files into the Chapel.

“While you are yet on the Wake Forest campus, we want you to know about the aims and program of the Alumni Association. You will become automatically a member of this organization at the end of your student days at the College.

“Objectives of the Association are ‘to nourish friendly relations among its members; to maintain and strengthen in alumni the best spirit and ideals of the College; to secure cooperation of alumni and the public in helping the College to render the most effective service possible.’

“Throughout North Carolina and in other states alumni clubs meet periodically to receive news from and about the College and to achieve the objectives mentioned above. The Wake Forest Magazine goes to every alumnus whose address is known, keeping him abreast of campus life and activities of other alumni.

“Wake Forest College has surpassed in ‘bulk achievement’ all other Baptist colleges in the United States, according to Dr. Clarence E. Lovejoy of Columbia University in a statement based on a 1949 study of American colleges and universities. He was referring to achievements of Wake Forest alumni who have become college president, deans, professors, authors, bankers, executives, statesmen, and servants of mankind in numerous other fields.

“In material support, alumni have given in large and small sums more than a million dollars in recent years for construction on the new campus. One of them made a bequest, valued at more than a million dollars, for a scholarship fund for the benefit of students. Alumni giving annually through A LIVING ENDOWMENT program is a perennial source of strength to the College in its service to present and future students.

"Scores of alumni have been generous of their time, talents, interest, influence, and devotion in helping to make and keep their alma mater strong and useful.

"So, on behalf of the thousands of Wake Forest men and women who are, as our fight song says, 'unrivaled by any,' we hail you with delight and welcome you to the ranks of a loyal company.

"Our congratulations upon the rich opportunities opening to you on the Wake Forest campus!"

WALTER HOLTON, President WFC Alumni Association

EUGENE OLIVE, Director of Alumni Activities

Other Information

Information pertaining to charges, estimated expenses, financial arrangements, requirements for degrees, courses in liberal arts, the summer term, an index of students, and listing of all professors and administrative staffs may be found in the Bulletin of Wake Forest College. The Bulletin also contains more detailed coverage of much of the material in this handbook.

A three-volume work entitled "A History of Wake Forest College" was written several years ago by the late Dr. G. W. Paschal, Greek professor at the College. The book contains a detailed and interesting story of the College—its personalities, growth and development.

STUDENT MARRIAGES

In the rules and regulations of the Woman's Government Association is the following statement:

A woman student who plans to continue her enrollment in college after marriage must have her parent or guardian notify the Dean of Women before the marriage takes place. She must secure the permission of the Executive Committee of the faculty to continue her enrollment and, except in unusual circumstances, must secure off-campus living quarters.

Beginning this fall, the following regulation will go into effect for men students in the College:

A male student who plans to continue his enrollment in college after marriage to a woman student in the College must notify the Dean of the College before the marriage takes place. He must secure the permission of the Executive Committee of the faculty to continue his enrollment.

This new regulation has been adopted in accordance with the principle that a man student and a woman student guilty of the same violation of College rules should receive the same penalty.
